

Valerie Blount
Vice President Global Customer Operations

At FairWarning, Valerie Blount is responsible for global customer operations including customer communication channels, customer delivery solutions, and ongoing customer relationship management.

Valerie has 12 years experience improving business performance and operationalizing new business initiatives within large organizations as well as for her clients as a consultant. Prior to joining FairWarning, Valerie was part of PricewaterhouseCoopers' Health Information Technology team, the People & Change Management Leadership Team, and a Director in the healthcare provider industry.

Valerie received a Bachelor of Arts with Honors in Business & Organizational Communication from the University of South Florida, where she is frequently invited back as a guest speaker in effective business and customer communication.